

Satellite radio is a marvelous compliment to regular broadcasting. If you live in a western state where the distances are large the program there are silent area with no radio or radio which is marginal in content. I support satellite radion and wish to see their content grow into the weather and information fields.